MARA ELATIA

MARA ELATIA CAMP,
MARA TRIANGLE CONSERVANCY

Nestled in the peaceful North Western plains, ELATIA, meaning "The Good Neighbour" in Maa, rests a twelve tented camp gracefully perched along the Oloololo escarpment of the Masai Mara.
ELATIA is an easily accessible luxury camp set on the interlocking hills of the Mara triangle and offers impressive panoramic views, indulgent amenities and specially organised wilderness activities to help you revel in the marvel of the Great Masai Mara and its ecosystem.
The camp overlooks the Mara River which is famous for the annual wildebeest migration between the months of July and September and faces one of the three 'Kalema Hills' where the epic movie "Out of Africa" was filmed in 1985.
With over 1500 square kilometres, the Masai Mara and her conservancies are a vast grassland savannah filled with culture, history, vibrant wilderness, peace and pure magic, thriving under the African sun; and we at ELATIA are just "good neighbours"- to both community and wildlife.

WHY ELATIA CAMP?
