About Shangri-La Singapore

A tropical sanctuary in the heart of the city

Where Legendary Asian Hospitality Begins

Shangri-La Singapore is an urban oasis set amid 15 acres of landscaped gardens, and mere minutes away from bustling Orchard Road. The flagship property of the Shangri-La group, this is where its legendary Asian hospitality took root.

The hotel is named for the city in Tibet, made famous by British novelist James Hilton in his book Lost Horizon, published in 1939. Just as it provided peace and tranquillity to wandering travellers, the hotel today offers respite from the frenetic pace of life, enveloping its guests with its warm and friendly Asian-style hospitality.

Luxuriate in Three Distinctive Wings

Shangri-La Singapore first opened its doors in 1971 with the iconic Tower Wing. Seven years later, the tropical sanctuary that is the Garden Wing was launched, adding 161 rooms to the hotel's inventory. An architectural accomplishment at the time, the open-air Garden Atrium was unique in Singapore.

In 1985, the Valley Wing officially opened, introducing a new level of prestigious hotel accommodation in Singapore for heads of states, executive leaders and discerning luxury travellers. The 17-storey extension housed 140 rooms, bringing the total number in the hotel to 792. Also located within the grounds are longer stay options: 127 serviced apartments, and 55 serviced residences.

Interspersed between the hotel's three distinctive wings are lush, manicured gardens that house more than 110 varieties of plants, flowers and trees – from ornamental flowering trees, to aquatic plants, from vibrant tropical flowers to shady fruit trees. Part of these form the feature wall to the main hotel lobby in the Tower Wing, which was extensively renovated in 2017.

A Wide Range of Delectable Dining for Discerning Palates

11 dining concpets can be found within Shangri-La Singapore, serving up a variety of cuisines from around the world. Highlights include The Line, with its wide local and international buffet selection; Origin Grill, with its fresh, authentic flavours and sustainably-sourced seafood and artisanal meats; and Origin Bar, with its cocktails inspired by the spirit of travelling through time focusing on a specific invention or dream of a certain era. Asian options encompass award-winning Shang Palace, which pays homage to fine Cantonese cuisine; and The Lobby Lounge, with Singapore local heritage dishes and collaboration with local hawkers.

Where Great Minds Come Together

Since its doors first opened, Shangri-La Singapore has played host to countless events, from conferences, to closed-door dialogues, weddings and high society galas. These are held across its 5,500 square metres of space, including the two pillar-less ballrooms and 19 function rooms. Supporting every event is a dedicated team of catering and convention event managers that will see to every want and need.

A World of Family Fun Awaits

Unique to the hotel is a range of family-friendly experiences just for families with young ones. Known as Buds by Shangri-La, it comprises an interactive play area both in the indoors and out, occupying more than 1,800 square metres and located on the first floor of the hotel's Tower Wing. This is complemented by themed Family Suites, Deluxe Family Rooms and a family pantry equipped with family-friendly amenities for use throughout the hotel to ensure families travel light and is comfortable during their stay.

Through the years, the hotel has been a recipient of numerous awards and accolades. Conde Nast Traveler – Readers' Choice Awards ranked it second among the Top Hotels in Singapore list. It has been recognised as the Best Hotel in Asia Pacific by the Travel Weekly Asia – Readers' Choice Awards. Holidays with Kids – Readers' Choice Awards placed it at number one among the Top 10 Best Family Resorts. The property's dining outlets have also done well for themselves, with Shang Palace awarded a Michelin Plate in the Michelin Guide Singapore, and Origin Bar named #66 in Asia's 50 Best Bars 2022 and Best New Bar by City Nomads – The Bars Award.
