DID YOU KNOW?

More than 30 types of statuario marble – 24,000sqm – is used for the hotel’s walls and floors. It is the same marble that was used by the Italian artist Michelangelo to create many of his most famous sculptures including his statue, “David”.

It is home to the largest Swarovski crystal ceiling in the world, which is adorned with 21,000 crystals to represent the Milky Way. The installation is worth AED 1.3 million.

A team of up to six florists takes around eight hours to create the arrangements in the lobby, using flowers shipped from Holland or the Netherlands, Kenya, South Africa, and Thailand. The flower team endeavours to include a guest’s favourite flowers in the floral displays in their suite, creating bespoke arrangements ahead of their arrival.

NOTEWORTHY COLLABORATIONS

Eiderdown: The eiderdown duvets in the rooms are some of the most exclusive in the world. Not known to do anything by halves, those used at Burj Al Arab Jumeirah are the finest and rarest in existence. The down is harvested from abandoned eider duck nests in Iceland.

One nest provides 15-20g of eiderdown, and only 2,000 kg are allowed to be harvested each year, which is why the duvets are so highly prized. Signature pillows by Mühldorfer: The German duvet and pillow manufacturer, Mühldorfer, has created the hotel’s signature bedding and pillow menu.

From ultra-lightweight down quilts to revitalising premium down pillows, the menu has been created with the local clientele in mind. There are nine types of pillows available to guests on the extensive menu, which has been curated to enable every guest to enjoy a blissful night’s sleep.

With Drouault, our choice of bed linen intertwines luxury and comfort in every thread. Elegantly crafted, these linens envelop you in understated opulence, each stitch reflecting our commitment to exquisite repose.

DESIGN EXTERIOR

The design of the building - which celebrated its 20th year in 2020 - was inspired and signed off by HH Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum. The brief was to create an architectural marvel and new landmark that encapsulated Dubai’s legacy and aspirations.

Tom Wright of WS Atkins was the concept architect behind Jumeirah Burj Al Arab. He was tasked with creating a groundbreaking superstructure that was to reflect the heritage and traditions of Dubai and Arabia. The bold choices of colour, fabric, materials and finishes that define the interiors of Jumeirah Burj Al Arab took inspiration from the four elements – fire, water, earth, and air – as well as the Emirati desert and Arabian and international motifs.

Designed to resemble a billowing Arabian dhow sail, Jumeirah Burj Al Arab is the tallest all-suite hotel in the world. Supported by 250 foundation pilings driven 45m into the seabed, the hotel is built on a man-made island and covers across area of 111,484sqm. An incredible 70,000 cubic metres of concrete and more than 9,000 tonnes of steel were used in the construction of the hotel, whose revolutionary design and striking silhouette can be seen from across the city.

Construction of Jumeirah Burj Al Arab began in 1994 and involved 3,000 companies and contractors: 250 designers from the UK, US, and Dubai, and 3,500 workmen on site at any given time. It took two years to reclaim the island in the Arabian Gulf, and a further three years to build the magnificent landmark that is the focal point for Dubai's vast coastline.

Burj Al Arab Jumeirah is an icon of Dubai, recognised the world over alongside globally renowned buildings such as the Eiffel Tower and Sydney Opera House. Burj Al Arab Jumeirah boasts a truly breathtaking setting. It stands on a man-made island 280m offshore and is connected to the mainland by a slender, gently curving bridge.

Jumeirah Burj Al Arab stands on a man-made island 280m offshore and is connected to the mainland by a slender, gently curving bridge.

The dhow-shaped sail exterior is the first time a Teflon-coated woven glass fibre screen has been used vertically in such form and extent. A considerable technical challenge for the design team, the sail is dazzling white by day and transformed to display a spectrum of colour at night.

The iconic Burj Al Arab Jumeirah features a helipad that stands 212m above sea level.

The Ellipse Fountain, the eye-catching external fire and water feature at the hotel's entrance, combines 20,000 litres of water with bursts of fire for a striking visual display.

Each of the four stand-alone pillars located in front of the hotel propels fireballs into the air. The spectacle is created by releasing a controlled amount of non-toxic propane gas.

DESIGN INTERIOR

INTERIORS AND DÉCOR: Famed Chinese interior designer Khuan Chew of KCA International is the woman behind Jumeirah Burj Al Arab's distinctive interiors. Drawing inspiration from the sights and culture of Arabia, Chew has complemented the hotel's impressive palatial proportions by blending a vibrant colour palette with exquisite materials and original design features. Chew has intelligently incorporated the grandeur of Burj Al Arab Jumeirah with her individual take on interior design.

MATERIALS: The finest and most exclusive materials and products were sourced for the interiors of Jumeirah Burj Al Arab including 1,790sqm of 24-carat gold leaf, 28,000 light fixtures, 24,000sqm of statuario marble from Italy, as well as custom-made carpets and rugs from South Africa and India, bespoke wooden doors from Dubai and glistening chandeliers from the UK and Europe.

CASCADE WATERFALL: Situated between the escalators leading from the Lower Lobby to Sahn Eddar and the Upper Lobby, the waterfall combines finely atomised water with fibre optics to produce a unique kaleidoscopic effect. Water and mist flow elegantly downwards in a choreographed movement, jumping through a colourful display of glass stone-filled steps.

AQUARIUMS

There are three aquariums in Jumeirah Burj Al Arab – one on each side of the lobby and one in L'Olive at Al Mahara.

ATRIUM

The hotel has the world's tallest atrium, which ascends over 180m and is flanked by imposing golden columns. An abundance of warm, natural light beams down through the atrium, which has a beautiful fountain at its base.

LOWER LOBBY

The Lower Lobby's centrepiece is the cascading waterfall and aquarium, while the Upper Lobby offers stunning views of the atrium.

THE TERRACE

The Terrace is the first man-made luxury beach facility of its kind. The 10,000sqm luxury platform, which features two pools, cabanas and a 1,120sqm beach area (for which 1,000 tonnes of white sand were imported) opened in 2017. The Terrace was constructed in a cruise ship and yacht production facility in Finland before being shipped to Dubai in six pieces. Since then, its two pools have been adorned with 10 million gold and azure mosaic tiles. The facility incorporates a 612sqm freshwater pool, an 828sqm saltwater infinity pool, 300 sunbeds and 21 Love beds as well as 24 luxury private cabanas— including eight royal cabanas. Aside from The Terrace's exclusive facilities, there is ample canopy shading to enable guests to switch freely between sunbathing and sitting down for lunch at the Southern Mediterranean venue SAL.

FIVE SWIMMING POOLS

Jumeirah Burj Al Arab is home to five swimming pools – an open-air swimming pool next to Bab Al Yam restaurant, two at The Terrace and separate pools at Talise Spa.
